

About the study

In Québec, primary care is largely delivered in family medicine clinics. Healthcare providers in these clinics follow patients through their life course and help them maintain their health and wellbeing. Research is needed to identify areas for improvement to ensure that these services meet the needs of all patients.

Purpose of COPRI:

To improve primary care services and ultimately, the health and wellbeing of patients.

TO SIGN UP OR LEARN MORE,
please contact the COPRI research team.

Phone:
(438) 793-8118
Email:
McGill@copri.ca

Funding & Support

Réseau-1 Québec
Réseau de connaissances sur les soins primaires

UNITÉ DE SOUTIEN
SSA | QUÉBEC
Conseil pour un système de santé qui apprend

CIHR
IRSC
Canadian Institutes of Health Research
Instituts de recherche en santé du Canada

UNIVERSITÉ
McGill

UNIVERSITÉ
LAVAL

UNIVERSITÉ DE SHERBROOKE

Université
de Montréal

INTERESTED IN IMPROVING PRIMARY HEALTH CARE IN QUÉBEC?

YOU CAN HELP US!

We are conducting a study to learn about your experience as a patient and your health.

Annual data collection will consist of:

1 a questionnaire you complete on your own or with a trained interviewer.

2 a review of your medical history and retrieval of information from your family medicine clinic's medical records.

This information will serve to answer research questions on different aspects of primary care, a variety of diseases, and care for different populations.

You are eligible to participate if:

- you are ≥ 18 years of age
- you receive primary care services at a participating Family Medicine Group

The questionnaire will cover:

Demographics*

General Health

Beliefs on Health

Healthcare Use & Services

*age, gender, race/ethnicity, etc.

Visit our website!
copri.ca

Depending on your preference, the surveys can be completed:

1 on your own,

2 or with a trained interviewer:

via videoconference,

via telephone,

or in person at the clinic.

The survey will take approximately 30-60 minutes to complete, and you will receive a small compensation for your time.

30

to 60 minutes